HORTICULTURAL REGISTER,

AND

GARDENER'S MAGAZINE.

EDITED BY

THOMAS G. FESSENDEN AND JOSEPH BRECK.

VOLUME II.

BOSTON:
JOSEPH BRECK & CO.
1836.

Drawn by W. Turner

Engraved by J. Scullie

VIEW IN THE PARK AT ALLAINTON HOUSE,

As Worked by the Transplanting Machine, between 1810 & 1821.

SB1
.H8

Tuttle, Weeks & Dennett....Printers....17 School Street.

INDEX.

Page.

Address, by E. Weston, Jr., remarks on, 470
Alanton Park, how wooded by transplanting trees, 1
Amateur, query by, concerning bulbs, 74; Answer to said query, by a subscriber, 118
American Vine, notices of, 317
Anatomized leaves, 38
Ankoy tea-hills, a visit to, 295
Anthracite ashes, placed about the roots of fruit trees, 160
Ants red, how guarded against, 410
Appleby, Samuel, his directions for the flowering of Dutch bulbs, &c. 371
Apples and peaches valuable food for Swine, 477
Averill, Eliphalet, his cultivation of the fig, 417
Ayres, Richard, on plants of the genus Citrus, 424

Banana fruit, notices of, 50
Bee miller, how destroyed, 318
Bodin, M. Soulange, his report on rearing Silk worms, &c, 165
Botanical excursion, by Robert Dwight, 325
Botanical experiments, 80
Bread corn, and its substitutes, by William Kenrick, 47
Bread Fruit, 50
Breck, Joseph, on the selection of hardy herbaceous plants, suitable for ornamenting the parterre, border, or shrubbery, 21, 54, 84, 137, 182, 281—his notices of gardens in the vicinity of Boston, 41—on the formation and structure of buds. 91—remarks on the effects of winter on various plants, 239—on plants of the order Fungi, 418—his reremarks on the Turnip rooted Cabbage, &c. 445
Buckthorn hedges, on the cultivation and management of, by E. Hersy Derby, Esq. 27
Buds, remarks on the formation and structure of by J. Breck, 91
Bulbs, query concerning, 74—Cape, on the culture of, 343

Page.

Cabbage, Turnip rooted, notices of, 445
Cacao, or Chocolate tree, notices of, 50
Cauliflowers, directions for cooking, 200
Chaptal's Chemistry, extracts from on the preservation of fruits, &c. 302
Charcoal, clarification with, 120
Cherry tree gum, uses of, 120
Chimney Ornaments, vegetable, 80
China, on introducing the vegetable productions of, into this country, 3
Citrus, on the management of plants, belonging to the order of by Mr Richard Ayres, 434
Collections and recollections, 376
Color, influences of, on heat, &c. 38
Cook, Zebedee, Jr. on the cultivation of Mushrooms, 419
Cow Cabbage, notices of, 321
Cultivation, improvements in, 447
Cushing's Conservatory, a visit to, 110

Dahlias, remarks on, 429—Exhibition of, at New York, by Geo. C. Thorburn, 434
Dearborn, Hon. H. A. S., on the introduction into this country of the vegetable productions of China, 3—On the cultivation of Forest Trees, 121—On rearing Silk Worms, 161—On Mr Van Mons' method of raising Fruit Trees from the seed, 293
Derby, E. Hersy, Esq, on the cultivation and management of Buckthorn hedges, 27
Downing, A. J., his remarks on temperature considered in relation to vegetation, the naturalization of Plants, &c. 68
Dream, a, by Juvenis, 211
Dutch bulbs, directions for Flowering, by Samuel Appleby, 371
Dwight, Robert, notices of a botanical excursoin, by 325

Elder Tree, notices of, 200
Evergreen Shrubs, hardy, on their culture, 196, 297—on transplanting, 320, 377

Page.
Extracts from Foreign publications—153, 190—from German periodicals, 243
Facts worth knowing, 410
Fashions in flowers, 410
Figs, dried, how improved, 319—cultivation of by Eliphalet Averill, 417
Fiske, Hon. O., on propagating Horse Chesnuts, 478
Flora, on plants adapted to planting in beds, in masses, &c. 343
Floral phenomenon, 378
Flowering plants, fruits and vegetables, how prepared for sale. By J. E. Teschemacher, 16
Flower pots for rooms, 411
Flowers, remarks on their fragrance, 39—on flashes of light from, 179—pleasures and uses of their cultivation, 413
Forest Scenery in North America, Notes on by James M'Nab, 462
Forest Trees, on the cultivation of, by Gen. Dearborn, 121
Fruit Trees, Mr Van Mons' method of raising from the seed, should not be grafted till they have shown fruit, 411
Fruits in the valley of the Connecticut river, notices of, by M. S. 72—improved by Van Mons, 293, 339—on gathering and preserving, 307
Fruits of the earth, on the preservation of by drying, &c. 309
Fungi, on the cultivation of, by Joseph Breck, 418

Gardener's Work for June, 248—July, 278—August, 316—September, 350—October, 396—November, 439—December, 479
Gardening, pleasures of, 78
Gardens, Hot houses, &c in the vicinity of Boston, notices of, by J. Breck, 41
Garlic, an antidote to fever, 219
Gooseberries, on their culture, 79
Grafting, budding and inarching, propagating plants by, 472
Granaries, notices of, 47
Grapes, preservation of, 319
Grape vines, pruning of, 79
Greville rose, remarks on, 190

Harrington, Joseph, on northern exposure and the tarring of fruit trees, 308
Herbaceous plants, on the selection of for ornamenting the parterre, &c. by Joseph Breck, 21
Horse Chesnut, mode of propagating, 478
Horticultural Society, Massachusetts, remarks on their exhibitions, by Philo-Florist, 145—notices of their exhibitions, 314, 352, 387—notices of their anniversary, 393, 431
Horticultural Society, in Halifax, 499
Horticulture in Maine, 380
Hot water apparatus, for heating hot-houses, &c. at Col. Perkins, &c, notices of, 45—notices of heating by, 351
Hyacinths, flowering of in water, 74
Hybrids, remarks on, 408

Insects, a recipe for destroying, 36—odoriferous substances offensive to, 478
Iodine, effect of, on germination, 379

J. E. T., on the influence of temperature on plants, 176
Jelly, a new mode of making, 79
J. L. R., his leaf from the Diary of a Naturalist, 89
Juvenis, a dream by, 241

Kenrick, William, on bread corn and its substitutes, 47—on the Osage Orange, 195—his notice of M. Van Mons' donation of Fruit, 249, 339

L'Ami, Leaves from his Note Book, 29, 293—his observations on Mr Weston's Address, 470
Leaf from the Diary of a Naturalist, 89
Light, its influence on vegetation, 401
Lightning Rods, extent of their influence, 317

Maine, Horticulture in, 380
Manufacture, a new, from a plant called Phormium tenex, 415
Mildew in Grapes, soap suds a remedy for, 154
Mites and weevils, to clear barns and houses from, 35
Moths, preventive against, 320
M. S., his observations on Fruits in the valley of the Connecticut river, 72
Mushrooms, on their cultivation, by J. Breck, 418—by Zebedee Cook, Jr, 419

Nelson, Albert H., extracts from his Address before the Middlesex Agricultural Society, 447

Page,
Nettles, on the cause and effect of their stinging, 317
Notices of Foreign works, 112

Odoriferous substances, offensive to insects, 478
Orchards, setting out in quincunx order recommended, 37
Osage Orange, remarks on, by William Kenrick, 195
Oxen, how trained to the draught, 36

Paint, made with potatoes, recipe for, 35
Pansy, or Heart's Ease, on the culture of, 437
Paxton's Magazine of Botany, extracts from, 196, 297
Peach trees, on transplanting, 35 —how preserved from worms, 78, 408, 476—cause of the decay of, 403
Pear trees, the Seckel, origin of, 38
Perennials, remarks on the culture of, 149
Philo-florist, his remarks on the exhibitions of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, 145
Plantain fruit, notices of, 49
Planter's Guide, review of, 61
Plants, new and rare, a list of, 465
Plums, selection of, 320—how preserved in honied water, 412
Poiteau, A., his notice of the theory of Van Mons to obtain fine fruit from the seeds, 208
Potato, as a substitute for bread, &c. 49

Quivis, notices of the results of experiments by, 97

Raspberry Jam, how made, 320
Rats and mice, how destroyed, 36
Reynold's Journal, extract from, 7
Rose, remarks on the genus of, by Professor John L. Russell, 81
Rose bush, on the culture of, 451
Roses, a description of, 75, 105
Russell, Professor John L., his observations on the origin of species, varieties and variations in the vegetable kingdom, 9—his remarks on the genus Rosa, &c. 81—on the culture of Salsify, 96—on the influence of light on vegetation, &c. 401

Salsify, remarks on the culture and uses of, by J. W. Russel, 96
Scott, J M. D., on the cause of decay in Peach trees, 403
Seeds, vital principle of, 120
Silk Worms on the rearing of, by Hon. H. A. S. Dearborn, 161

Page.
—M. Soulange Boudin's report on rearing, 165
Sinclair, Robert, on the Greville Rose, 109
Soils, discrimination of, 333
Spontaneous movements of plants, 378
Spontaneous combustion of a plant, 416
Strawberries, tanner's bark and leaf mould recommended for, 36 —remarks on their culture, 160, 349—how to preserve them, 419 —covering beds of, with rotten wood. 477
Sweet Potato, its origin and culture, 51

Tap roots of trees, on shortenigg, 34
Taylor, Charles, on propagating plants by grafting, &c. 474
Temperature, considered in reference to vegetation, remarks on, by Mr A. J. Downing, 68, 99—its influence on plants, by J. E. T. 177
Teschemacher, J. E., his extracts from German Periodicals, 243
Theophrastus, his visit to Mr Cushing's Conservatory, 110
Timber, how to obtain good, 35
Transplanting large trees, 1
Trees, northern exposure to, recommended and tarring of injurious, 308
Tremer, Mr J. R., on flashes of light from flowers, 179
Tuberose, on the culture of, 458—Polianthos on the history of, 460
Tulip, on the culture of, by W. J. P. 361
Turnip rooted Cabbage, notices of, 445
Turnips, how preserved in pots, 398

Valleta purpurea, notice of by XIOPE, 368
Van Mons, his method of raising fruit trees from the seed, 203, 208, 210—remarks on, by the Editor, 248—Additional donations of fruit received from, 249 —letter from, to Messrs Kenrick. Manning and Dearborn, 253
Vegetable kingdon, on the origin of species, varieties and variations in, 9

Watering plants, remarks on, 469
Waterloo Cabbage, notices of, 321
Weston, Ezra, jr., remarks on his Horticultural Address. 470
Winships' Green house flowers in bloom in February, 119

Xiope, his notice of Valleta purpurea, 367—his remarks on the use of soils in the growth of plants, 441
Yams, notice of, 54